

Privacy Policy

Effective Date: April 30th, 2024

The privacy and security of your information are very important to Diversified Agrisurance Company ("DAC", "we", "us", "our"). We are deeply committed to maintaining industry-standard levels of security that comply with applicable federal and state laws to help protect the personal information that we collect.

This Privacy Policy applies to your interaction and communication with DAC, including, without limitation, in person, by phone, through mail or email or through any online or mobile site, application or social media account that DAC owns and controls (collectively, "Sites"), unless a separate privacy notice is posted or made available to you and supplements this Privacy Policy.

This Privacy Policy applies only to the Sites and does not extend to other websites, including websites owned and controlled by our partners or third-party websites for which we have provided links, or to any social media platforms, which are governed by their own terms of use and privacy policies.

By accessing or using our Sites or otherwise disclosing information to DAC, you agree that you are providing freely-given, specific, informed, and unambiguous consent to our collection, use, and sharing of your information in accordance with this Privacy Policy.

Information we collect

We collect the below categories of information directly and indirectly from individuals and the parties with which we do business in a variety of ways, including in person, by phone, through mail or email and through our Sites. These may include parties that interact with us directly (our customers or individuals that apply for our products, respond to our surveys, request information about our products or services or otherwise voluntarily provide us with their information), parties to which we provide goods or services, parties that provide goods or services to us and other parties with whom we offer or provide products and services.

We may collect and store the following types of information:

- Identifiers, such as name, address, email address, phone number, date of birth, social security number, tax payer ID, driver's license number, passport number, government ID or IP address.
- Protected classification characteristics, such as race, color, national origin, marital status, sex, veteran or military status.
- Geolocation data, such as physical location or movements.
- Biometric information, such as face prints, voice recordings, fingerprints or keystroke patterns or rhythms.
- Commercial information, such as organizational information, records of personal property or purchasing history.
- Internet or other similar network usage activity, such as browser information, search history, device type or service provider information.
- Professional or employment related information, such as income or current or past job history.
- Educational information, such as transcript, student records, grades and performance, activities, school name or school ID.

- Health information, such as medical history, insurance information, benefit plan information, claims history or payment history.
- Inferences drawn from other information, such as a person's preferences, trends or behaviors.
- Personal records, such as power of attorney, family history or power of attorney.
- Information that you provide by filling in forms or providing other contributions on our Sites, through email or over the phone.
- Information received from a government entity or other third party.
- Records and copies of your correspondence (including email addresses), if you contact us.
- Responses to surveys.
- Details of the transactions you carry out with us or through our Sites, such as transaction records, financial information, credit information, account information and correspondence with you.
- Account information when you register for an account on our Sites.
- Any other information that you provide to us.

Further, we and our service providers may use various tracking technologies, including cookies, to collect information about you when you interact with our Sites, including information about your browsing and viewing behavior. Cookies are small data files stored on your hard drive or in device memory that help us improve the Sites and your experience, see which areas and features of the Sites are popular and count visits. In addition, when you access or use the Sites, our servers automatically record certain log file information, such as your Internet Protocol address, operating system, browser type and language, referring URLs, access times, pages viewed, links clicked and other information about your activities on the Site. Most web browsers are set to accept cookies by default. If you prefer, you can usually choose to set your browser to remove or reject browser cookies. Please note that if you choose to remove or reject cookies, this could affect the availability and functionality of the Sites.

Certain information set forth above may be categorized as "personal information" as defined under applicable law. Such personal information may receive additional protections under applicable state or federal law. Personal information specifically does not include information that is publicly available information from government records, or information that is deidentified or aggregated information.

We may receive information that third parties provide us, which may include information about you. This Privacy Policy does not apply to information collected through or by any third party. If you have any questions about such third parties' privacy practices, you should review their privacy policies.

How we use information we collect

We may use your information for various purposes related to our operations and your use of the Sites. For example, we may use your information to:

- Detect, investigate or prevent activity that may be illegal, violate our policies, cause harm to our operations or compromise our security.
- Optimize, improve or enhance our products, services and operations.
- Respond to your inquiries or fulfill your requests, including to provide individuals with, or evaluate their eligibility for, products and services that they have requested from us.
- Communicate with individuals about their accounts or transactions that they have made with us.
- Provide information regarding our products or services, including changes to our policies or other terms, conditions or agreements and our Sites.
- Allow participation in surveys, sweepstakes, contests and other promotions.

- Comply with legal and regulatory requirements, required disclosures and choices and controls that may be available.
- Send offers and promotions for our products and services or for other products and services that may be of interest.
- Personalize online or mobile content and user experiences.
- Verify the identity or location of an individual for security, fraud prevention and other risk control purposes.
- Provide advertising based on activity on our Sites.
- Perform operational functions in connection with our business, including data analysis, audits, developing and improving products and services, enhancing the Sites, identifying usage trends and determining the effectiveness of promotional campaigns.
- Offer and in connection with your employment (to the extent applicable to you).
- Maintain appropriate records for internal administrative purposes.
- For any other purpose disclosed by us to you at the time you provide us information.
- For any other purpose with your consent.

We may disclose each of the categories of information we collect for any of the business purposes set forth above.

We also may use aggregated or de-identified information, which cannot reasonably be used to identify you. Once de-identified and aggregated so that data does not personally identify you (for example, we may aggregate data in order to improve our automation and improve care), it is no longer personal information. Such de-identified and/or aggregated information which does not identify individuals is not subject to this Privacy Policy.

How we share information we collect

We may share information about you as follows or as otherwise described in this Privacy Policy:

- To our subsidiaries and affiliates.
- To contractors, service providers and other third parties we use to support our business and who need access to such information to carry out work or perform services on our behalf (including equipment dealers).
- To a buyer or other successor in the event of a merger, divestiture, restructuring, reorganization, dissolution or other sale or transfer of any or all of our assets, whether as a going concern or as part of bankruptcy, liquidation or similar proceeding.
- To third parties to market their products or services to you.
- To fulfill the purpose for which you provide it.
- For any other purpose disclosed by us when you provide the information.
- With your consent.
- To comply with any court order, law or legal process, such as responding to any government or regulatory request.
- To enforce or apply our terms of use with respect to our Sites and other agreements, including for billing and collection purposes.
- If we believe disclosure is necessary or appropriate to protect the rights, property or safety of DAC, our customers or others. This includes exchanging information with other companies and organizations for the purposes of fraud protection and credit risk reduction.

We may disclose aggregated information about you, and information that does not identify any individual, without restriction. We may disclose each of the categories of information we collect for any of the business purposes set forth above.

Third Party Link

The Sites may contain links to third-party content, services or products by linking to a third-party's website. If you click on a third-party link, you will be directed to that third-party's website. DAC does not exercise control over third-party websites and is not responsible for the privacy practices or the content of any such third-party websites. Please note that if you provide any information to parties who provide services to us or to any other sites you encounter on the Internet (even if these sites reflect our branding), different rules and policies may apply to their use or disclosure of any personal information you disclose to them. We encourage you to check the privacy policies of third-party websites before providing your information to them. The fact that we may link to a third-party website or present a banner ad or other type of advertisement from a third party is not an endorsement, authorization, or representation of any affiliation by us with that third party, nor is it an endorsement of their privacy or information security policies or practices.

Third Party Analytic Services

We may work with certain third parties to collect, analyze, and use some of the information described above. For example, we may allow third parties to set cookies or use web beacons on the Sites or in email communications from DAC. The information collected by third parties using these technologies may be used to engage in analysis and reporting. These third parties may set and access cookies on your computer or other device and may collect information about your online activities across different websites or services over time, including on websites and mobile applications that are not owned or operated by DAC. In particular, the Sites may use Google Analytics to help collect and analyze certain information for the purposes discussed above. You may opt-out of the use of cookies in web browsers by Google Analytics by visiting Google's website.

Security

DAC uses reasonable security measures designed to safeguard the personal information under our control from unauthorized access, use, and disclosure. Despite these measures, the confidentiality of any communication or material transmitted to or from us via the Sites by Internet or email cannot be guaranteed. The safety and security of your information also depend on you. Where we have given you (or where you have chosen) a password for access to certain parts of our Sites, you are responsible for keeping this password confidential. We ask you not to share your password with anyone. DAC encourages you to learn as much as you can about your privacy on the Internet.

Children's Online Privacy Protection Act

Our Sites are not intended for children under 13 years of age. No one under age 13 may provide any personal information to or on the Site. We do not knowingly collect personal information from children under 13. If you are under 13, do not use or provide any information on our Sites or on or through any of its features or provide any information about yourself to us, including your name, address, telephone number, e-mail address or any screen name or user name you may use. If you believe that we have collected personal information from children under 13, please contact us at Privacy@dfsfin.com or 800-444-3584.

Notice to International Users

The Sites are hosted in the United States and are subject to U.S. law, and are intended for users located only in the U.S. If you are accessing the Sites from outside the United States, please be advised that U.S. law may not offer the same privacy protections as the laws of your jurisdiction. By accessing and using the Sites, you consent to the transfer to and processing of your personal information in the U.S.

Your Rights

The law of your jurisdiction may provide you with certain rights regarding our use of your personal information.

Subject to any exceptions under applicable law, you may have the following rights with respect to your personal information collected by DAC:

- The right to know and access. You may have the right to request DAC provide you with (i) a copy of the personal information that we have collected or maintained about you during any specific period of time; (ii) the categories of personal information that we have collected or maintained about you during any specific period of time; (iii) the categories of purposes for which such personal information was disclosed during any specific period of time; (iv) the categories of sources of such personal information that was collected during any specific period of time; and (v) the categories of third parties that such personal information may have been shared with during any specific period of time. If you exercise your right to know or access, we will endeavor to provide you with the information requested for the specific time period requested. If you choose to exercise your right to know or access and do not specify a time period, we will endeavor to provide all of the requested information collected or maintained after January 1, 2022, unless doing so would be impossible or involve a disproportionate effort. In the case that fulfilling a request to know or access proves impossible or involves a disproportionate effort, we will endeavor to provide you the requested categories of information collected or maintained by DAC in the immediately preceding 12 months from the date of your request. All information provided to you under this right to know and access will be provided in a portable, easily understandable, and to the extent technically feasible, in a structured, commonly used, machine-readable, and readily usable format that will allow you to transmit the relevant information to another entity without hindrance or impediment.
- The right to deletion. You may have the right to request that DAC delete the personal information that we or our vendors collected about you. There may be circumstances under which we will be unable to delete your personal information, such as if we need to comply with our legal obligations or complete a transaction for which your personal information was collected. If we are unable to comply with your request for deletion, we will let you know the reason why.
- The right to correct inaccurate personal information. You may have the right to request that any of your inaccurate personal information that is maintained by us to be corrected, taking into account the nature of the personal information and the purposes of the processing of the personal information.
- The right to portability. You may have the right to request that DAC transmit your personal information to another entity in a portable, easily understandable, and to the extent technically feasible, in a structured, commonly used, machine-readable, and readily usable format.
- The right to not be subject to targeted advertising or certain profiling. You may have the right to opt-out of processing of your information for the purpose of providing targeted advertising or which constitutes profiling in furtherance of decisions that produce legal effects or similarly significant effects concerning you.

- The right to limit the use of your sensitive personal information. Your sensitive personal information may include your social security number, driver's license, state identification card, or passport number; account log-in, financial account, debit card, or credit card number in combination with any required security or access code, password, or credentials allowing access to an account; precise geolocation; racial or ethnic origin, religious, philosophical, or political beliefs, or union membership; the contents of your mail, email and text messages, except in cases where we are intended recipient of the communication; your genetic data; the processing of biometric information for the purpose of uniquely identifying you; personal information collected and analyzed concerning your health; personal information collected and analyzed concerning your sex life or sexual orientation; citizenship; or personal information of children. You may have the right to request that we limit the use of your sensitive personal information for only the purpose of providing requested services and goods to you. Exercising this right does not require a verifiable consumer request.
- The right to appeal. If you submit a request to exercise one of the above rights and we deny such request, you may have the right to appeal our decision. If you choose to appeal, we will inform you of any action taken or not taken in response to the appeal within 45 days, along with a written explanation of the reasons in support of the response. Where reasonably necessary, we may extend the 45-day period by an additional 45 days (for a total of 90 days), where reasonably necessary. In the event that we employ such 45-day extension, we will inform you within the initial 45-day period of such extension, together with the reasons for the delay.
- The right to file a complaint. You may have the right to file a complaint with a relevant supervisory authority or your state's Attorney General. You may contact us, the relevant supervisory authority, or your state's Attorney General for more information.

If you choose to exercise any of these rights, DAC will not discriminate against you in any way.

Exercising Your Rights

To exercise any of the aforementioned rights, contact us at Privacy@dfsfin.com or 800-444-3584. In connection with submitting a request, provide the following information: name, email, phone number, address, dealer name (if services were provided through a dealer), and state what type of request you are making. We will endeavor to confirm receipt of your request within 10 days of receiving your request.

Only you, or someone legally authorized to act on your behalf, may make a consumer request related to your personal information. In general, DAC has the right to require you to provide written permission granting authority to your representative and for your agent to verify its identity directly with us, and we may deny a request from your representative who does not submit proof of authorization as we request.

A verifiable consumer request must provide sufficient information that allows DAC to reasonably verify the requester is the person about whom we collected personal information or an authorized representative and describe the request with sufficient detail that allows us to properly understand, evaluate, and respond to it. DAC generally cannot respond to a request or provide personal information if we cannot verify the identity or authority to make the request.

DAC will endeavor to respond to a consumer request within 45 days of its receipt. If we require more time (up to an additional 45 days), we will provide notice in writing explaining the reason for the extended time period. We may deliver our written response by mail or electronically, at your option.

We may deny your request to exercise any of the rights listed herein if we have a good-faith, reasonable, and documented belief that such request is fraudulent.

Additional Disclosures

Some web browsers have "Do Not Track" or similar features that allow you to tell each website you visit that you do not want your activities on that website tracked. At present, the Sites do not respond to "Do Not Track" signals and consequently, the Sites will continue to collect information about you even if your browser's "Do Not Track" feature is activated.

California's "Shine the Light" law (Civil Code Section § 1798.83) permits users of our Sites that are California residents to request certain information regarding our disclosure of personal information to third parties for their direct marketing purposes. To make such a request, please send an email to Privacy@dfsfin.com.

Sale of Personal Information

DAC has not, in the preceding 12 months, and does not currently, sell or share your personal data for money or other valuable consideration.

Retention of Your Personal Information

We will retain your personal information, including sensitive personal information, for no longer than is reasonably necessary for the purpose(s) for which it was collected. In certain cases, personal information may be kept for an extended period of time in order to comply with a legal obligation, or for the establishment, exercise or defense of a legal claim, in accordance with applicable law.

Changes to this Privacy Policy

We may change this Privacy Policy at any time. The most current version of this Privacy Policy will be posted and available on the Sites. Any changes to this Privacy Policy will be effective at the time we post the revised Privacy Policy to the Sites. If we make material changes to how we treat your information, we will notify you through a notice on our Sites home page. Please review it periodically. Your use of the Sites following any changes made means that you accept the revised Privacy Policy.

Accessibility

We are committed to facilitating the accessibility of our Sites for all people with disabilities. To access this Privacy Policy in an alternative format, please contact us Privacy@dfsfin.com or 800-444-3584.

Contact Us

Contact us with any questions or concerns you may have regarding this Privacy Policy at Privacy@dfsfin.com or 800-444-3584.